

INTRODUCING

Import-Export Trade Data

SAYARI GRAPH

Bringing transparency to international commerce.

The addition of Trade Data to the Sayari data library provides greater insight into the flow of goods through key international markets, supporting everything from trade compliance and supply chain risk management to uncovering potential sanctions evasion and trade-based money laundering.

Entities Mentioned

Entities mentioned in the Trade Data

Entity

4820200002587030

3M COMPANY

4820200002587030

SHIPMENT

2 Relationships

9 Attributes

Identifiers

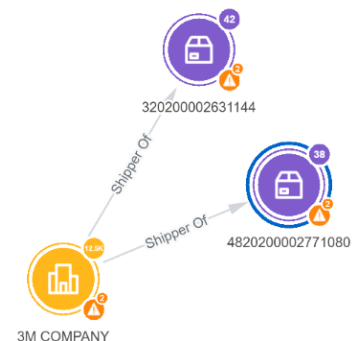

Colombia DIAN Formulario 500/600 No. 4820200002587030
Colombia Bill of Lading No. SUDU20001AMZHXK0

Deeper insight into global trade

Easily access shipment information, such as shipper and receiver, Harmonized System (HS) codes, package weight and type, the associated bill of lading, carrier names, arrival and departure information, and more.

Improved trade compliance and supply chain risk management

Gain a clear picture of relevant shipping activity to spot sanctioned entities, high-risk intermediaries, or suspicious shipment anomalies in your supply chain.

- Brazil Imports & Exports (2022 - Present) New!
- China Imports & Exports (2022 - Present)
- China-DPRK Exports (2013-2017)
- Colombia Imports & Exports (2008-2020)
- Colombia Imports & Exports (2022 - Present) New!
- Ecuador Imports & Exports (2022 - Present) New!

Increased transparency in important jurisdictions

View import and export activity in 123 key international markets, including China, Brazil, Colombia, Mexico, Panama, the United States, and Venezuela. See our latest trade data and other sources.

Take your investigations further with global Trade Data, now available in Sayari Graph.

Don't have access? Visit sayari.com to sign up for a free trial.

SAYARI